OSG's Vocational Training School in India Certified as a Japan-India Institute for Manufacturing

OSG Corporation is pleased to announce that OSG India Academy, an in-house vocational training school opened in India, has been accredited as a "Japan-India Institute for manufacturing (JIM)" by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry. JIM is an educational institution for acquiring Japanese-style manufacturing concepts and skills based on the Monozukuri Skills Transfer Promotion Program agreed upon by the Governments of Japan and India in November 2016. It provides personnel training in the manufacturing sector in India.

At OSG India Academy, seven students are currently learning Japanese-style manufacturing.

OSG will continue to actively engage in personnel training both domestically and internationally and contribute to the development of manufacturing industry in India and the strengthening of its economic environment.
